

Carey Establishes Two Tire Agencies

Exclusive rights for Maui for the Kelly-Springfield solid tires and for Miller pneumatics have been secured by Dan T. Carey, he announced yesterday. Complete stocks have arrived and are ready for display in his Wailuku establishment.

The Kelly-Springfield company is specializing in a truck tire called the caterpillar for which it is claimed that they do not sink into soft mud, are 50 percent less destructive to truck and load than the ordinary tire, give 25 to 50 percent more fuel mileage, presents 40 percent greater resistance to skidding as well as being much easier on roads than the ordinary solid tire.

The Miller tire is known as "the uniform made tire" and has established a good reputation among pneumatic tires for use in these islands.

"The Sheik" Breaks All Records at Hipp

The largest audience that ever attended the Hippodrome in the history of the house when "The Sheik" opened last Sunday night, fifteen minutes after the doors were open the house was sold out, and several fancy prices were offered for standing room only.

The program opened with a very good comedy, then Manager Harris introduced Mr. Frank Bal who sang "The Sheik" in a most pleasing manner and not until Mr. Bal had sung the second chorus would the audience let him go, after rounds of hearty applause the opening reel was flashed upon the screen of the big feature film, when the large audience settled down to enjoy this wonderful production which without a doubt is the finest film ever shown on Maui. The large crowds that were unable to obtain tickets at the Hippodrome were reserving seats for Monday at Kahului.

"The Sheik" will be shown tonight at M. A. Theater Paia, Wednesday at Puunene and Thursday at Haiku and will close its run on Maui at Lahaina on Friday night.

"Headin' Home" Shows 'Babe' Ruth on Screen

Another feature film is being offered at the Hippodrome tonight with "Babe" Ruth as the star in the leading role. "Headin' Home" is a story written around the "Home Run King" in which baseball featured.

The Sports who made the highest score at the local games last Sunday will be the guests of the management on Tuesday evening at the Wailuku Hippodrome and all members of the team may obtain their tickets from Mr. Lewis at The Maui Sporting Goods Store. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to see "Babe" not only as the "Home Run King" but as the leading man in one of the biggest baseball pictures ever produced. Prices will be 15, 25, 35, and 40 cents.

Listens to Concert Rendered In Seattle At Home in Wailuku

Some notable results in low power continuous wave wireless telegraphy have been achieved by Clifford J. Dow, representative in Wailuku of the Mutual Wireless Company with an apparatus which he has installed at his home on Vineyard street. He has caught a message from Cambridge, Massachusetts, has been in communication with points as far away as Cambridge, Massachusetts, and has listened to a concert which was broadcast by the Seattle Post Intelligencer. These were some of the results he secured on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week.

Dow says that his apparatus requires no more electric current than that has been used at Lahaina merely for transmitting messages to other island stations. He has been told from those with whom he was in communication on the mainland that his messages came very distinct, "could be heard all over the place."

Communicating with Boise, Idaho, a distance of 2805 miles, Dow had the station at the Boise High School and from a friend of Mrs. T. B. Linton of the Maui Bookstore, he had a message for her.

Friday night he listened to the concert and also caught the wireless phone message from the Post Intelligencer to people in Los Angeles expressing the hope that they would hear and enjoy the concert.

Dow's apparatus is out of commission for a few days but on the receipt of a burned out part he will resume his communications, planning a series of messages back and forth from Washington, D. C.

Methods of Care For Mothers and Babies to Be Taught in Gotham

NEW YORK, April 4—(Associated Press Mail)—A demonstration of the proper methods of caring for newly-born infants in an effort to reduce the high death rate of mothers and babies throughout the country has been started by the Maternity Center Association in a zone covering a square mile in the upper East Side.

The "base of operations" chosen for the Association's educational campaign, contains both tenement houses and homes of working men in which, it is estimated, 4,000 babies will be born in 1922.

"The last word in complete maternity care will be given to every mother possible," a statement said. "The results will be carefully analyzed and the increased knowledge offered to the entire country."

Miss Mabel Choate, daughter of the late celebrated lawyer, Joseph Choate, who is president of the association, declared that at least 200,000 mothers die in the United States every year from causes incident to maternity. One hundred thousand babies are still born and another 100,000 die before they are one month old.

"In order that we may reach as many expectant mothers as possible in the district where we are making the intensive study," Miss Choate said "house to house canvasses are being made by the nurses. All of the patients who can do so, are urged to attend the center. Those who cannot come through illness or for other reasons are visited in their homes."

The task before the association, she asserted, is to convince the mother that care is really necessary and to tell her just how to care for herself and for the expected baby.

"These two problems we are attacking through the preparation of more than 1,000,000 pamphlets which will be distributed throughout the country" said Miss Choate.

Fascinating Story Hymn Writer's Life Will Be Told Sunday

The most famous bishop that India ever had was Reginald Heber. At the age of 40 he was sent out as Bishop of Calcutta with general oversight over all of India. For three years he worked with unremitting toil, and then died of heart failure in a swimming tank in South India after service one Sunday noon.

He is the author of some of the most noted hymns of the Christian Church. The great call to worship is his—"Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty." The famous missionary hymn is from his pen and was dashed off for a special service "From Greenland's Icy Mountain." The great call to Christian service is also his, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War." He, too, is the author of the affecting and beautiful baptismal hymn—"By Cool Siloam's Shady Rill." The charming communion hymns "Bread of the World in Mercy Broken," has been used around the globe.

The fascinating story of the life of this great man and an account of his hymns will be a part of the special musical service at the Union Churches of Makawao and Wailuku next Sunday, in addition to the regular sermon of the day.

Obituary

ORLANDO JOHN WHITEHEAD

Funeral services for O. J. Whitehead whose death last Thursday afternoon was reported in this paper Friday, were held Friday afternoon with many sorrowing friends and fellow lodge members in attendance. Members of the masonic lodges, Knights of Pythias and Forester lodges, of all of which Mr. Whitehead was a member and of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Pythian Sisters gathered at the house before 3:30 at which hour a cortege was formed and proceeded to Wailuku Union Church where the funeral services were held, Rev. Augustine Jones officiating and delivering a funeral sermon which was singularly appropriate. From the church the cortege proceeded to Wailuku cemetery where final obsequies were held at the grave side.

For 28 years O. J. Whitehead had been a resident of the Islands and during 23 of those years he was actively connected with its military affairs. He was a member of the Hawaiian army in the monarchy days, from 1894 to 1897, of the military organization between the overthrow of the monarchy and annexation and then of the National Guard of which he was a major when he retired in 1897. He took part in the overthrow of the monarchy and the exciting events at that time and later.

Mr. Whitehead was born at Fort Dodge, Iowa, September 24, 1873, was educated in Nebraska and came to Hawaii in 1894, becoming connected with Ewa plantation. Later he was with the People's Ice Co. in Honolulu, the predecessor of the Hawaiian Electric Co., with the Honolulu Rapid Transit Co., and was deputy warden of the Oahu penitentiary. With his family he came to Maui in 1909 to enter business for himself and established a sewing machine agency here which he conducted successfully until his health failed him about three years ago. About a year ago he returned to Maui and since his return had appeared to be enjoying fairly good health and was able to attend to business for the Royal Hawaiian Sales Co. up to the day of his death. Over exertion in marching to the cemetery at the funeral of the late William F. Mangels is attributed as the cause of the sudden and fatal attack of Thursday afternoon.

In lodge affairs Mr. Whitehead had long taken important parts. He was a member of Lodge Maui, A. F. & A. M. Haleakala Chapter of Rose Croix, Past District Deputy Court Valley Isle, A. O. F. Past Chancellor of Mystic Lodge K. P., a founder and Past Dictator of the Moose Lodge now defunct, on this Island, a member of Harmony Chapter, Eastern Star and Honolulu Temple Pythian Sisters.

Surviving Mr. Whitehead are his widow, who before their marriage was Miss Renee V. Speck of Honolulu two daughters, Ruth Leialoha and Saddle Alice and a son William Francis.

"Of all the felicities the most charming is that of a firm and gentle friendship. It sweetens all our cares, dispels all our sorrows, counsels us in our extremities."

"Orlando J. Whitehead was all that the word friend implies. He was the kind of friend that is suggested in his favorite hymn, 'What a friend we have in Jesus.'"

"Morning, noon or night, he was ever ready, willing, anxious to serve a friend. He knew neither race nor creed; he did not 'talk' Christianity—he 'lived' it. He brought sunshine into the lives of others and therefore had much for himself."

A FRIEND.

Long Beach Life Guards Must Tend to Business

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 3—(Associated Press Mail)—Life guards patrolling the beach here must henceforth attend strictly to business, according to a recent ruling of the local civic authorities.

The new code covers many phases of the life guard's department and includes "No Flirting," "Attend strictly to business," "Be properly clothed in duck trousers and duck hats when not actually engaged in swimming duty," "Don't give swimming lessons" and "Don't pay attention to bathers except to enforce beach regulations and to rescue those in distress."

Life guards' bathing suits hereafter must extend one-third of the distance from the hip to the knee, with a skirt of the same length.

They will be selected by civil service examination.
